

Position Details:

- Title: Agronomy Research Associate
- Term: One year term starting September 2019
- Salary: to be determined depending on experience and capabilities
- Location: Indian Head, Saskatchewan

Company Description

- The Indian Head Agricultural Research Foundation (IHARF) is a non-profit organization established in 1993. With a volunteer Board of Directors, IHARF operates an applied agronomic research and demonstration program, implementing both small-plot and field-scale studies. IHARF also organizes and hosts extension events (field days, seminars) to pass along the results of our studies to the public (farmers and agronomists).
- The mission of IHARF is to promote profitable and sustainable agriculture by facilitating research and technology transfer activities for the benefit of its members and the agricultural community at large.

Job Duties / Responsibilities:

- Preparing project protocols for implementation in the field.
- Preparation of research materials and supplies for treatment applications.
- Establishment and maintenance of field plot trials.
- Data collection in the field and sample processing.
- Data entry and record keeping.
- Report writing, developing extension material and preparing for extension events.

Requirements:

- Applicant must have a valid drivers licence.
- Applicant must be willing to work outdoors and, at times, may have to work in hot, cold, dusty (including plant pollen) or loud environments.
- Proficiency in the use of computers is essential (Microsoft Word, Excel, and PowerPoint).
- Applicant must be willing to, at times, work alone and without supervision.
- Basic farm background and experience/familiarity with field crops, agricultural equipment, crop inputs and crop protection products is an asset but not a necessity.
- Previous experience with field research is an asset but not a necessity.
- Applicant must possess a bachelor's degree, diploma or certificate from a post-secondary institution.
- Applicant must be a Canadian citizen or permanent resident.
